Description of the Event / Activity – Introduction The NSS Cell of Bengal College of Engineering and Technology organized a Food and Cloth Distribution Campaign on 26th October 2025 under its " Helping Hands Outreach Program. " The activity was undertaken with the objective of reaching economically weaker members of society and providing them with basic necessities before the festive season. The programme served as a platform for students to contribute to community welfare and experience the value of selfless service. Planning and Organization The NSS Cell mobilized student volunteers for collecting, sorting and packaging the distribution materials. Volunteers identified suitable beneficiaries and organized the logistics required for the distribution drive. Proper coordination ensured smooth execution of the programme. Activities Conducted Volunteers distributed food packets and clothing items among underprivileged individuals and families. The beneficiaries were approached respectfully, and students assisted in ensuring equitable distribution. The programme emphasized dignity, compassion and community participation.

Student Participation

A total of 30 student volunteers from various departments actively participated in the campaign. Their sincere efforts and commitment contributed significantly to the success of the event. The programme also provided students with practical exposure to social outreach activities.

Conclusion

The Food and Cloth Distribution Campaign conducted on 26th October 2025 was a meaningful and impactful NSS initiative. The programme successfully reached underprivileged individuals with essential support while fostering humanitarian values among student volunteers. It reflected the NSS motto of serving society and contributing towards the welfare of the community.
